SAVANNAH, Ga. – Lamar Smith, a leading coastal Georgia land developer, announced today that he has formed Lamar Smith Signature Homes as a privately held homebuilding company that will “redefine the affordable home.” Lamar Smith Signature Homes will design, market, and sell single family homes in Lamar Smith’s amenity rich communities of Coastal Georgia.

Just as every Lamar Smith community focuses on family, with parks, playgrounds, pavilions, trails, and other amenities that serve as gathering spots for neighbors and families, Smith intends for the same philosophy to become part of the homes he builds. The floor plans, ranging from 1,500 to 3,300 square feet and starting in the $140s, will feature maximum space at the minimum cost to accommodate the lifestyles of today’s families and the new economy.

“We pride ourselves on developing communities where our residents can live, work and play, and we are now happy to bring that concept to our homebuilding efforts,” said Lamar Smith, founder and president of Lamar Smith Signature Homes. We believe homeowners will feel confident they’re making a smart investment in the future as we redefine the affordable home for today’s economy.”

Rice Creek, the newest residential community of Lamar Smith Signature Development, will showcase the Georgian collection offered by Lamar Smith Signature Homes. The grand opening of his model homes at Rice Creek will be announced in late August.

Lamar Smith Signature Homes is headquartered in Reidsville, Ga., and will be imbued with the same qualities that earned Lamar Smith his remarkable reputation as one of coastal Georgia’s leading land development companies. A few of his high-quality residential communities are Richmond Place and Mainstreet in Richmond Hill, Parkside at Rice Hope in Savannah, and Lost Plantation in Rincon.
